Greening Redbridge, Facing the climate crisis in our borough

Our objectives for the event are to:

- Learn from groups across Redbridge who are working on environmental concerns in order to address the Climate Crisis
- Raise awareness about climate change issues affecting people living in Redbridge
- Suggest activities that Faith organisations could carry out to protect the environment

At this event, we hope to bring together individuals, voluntary, community and faith sector groups and organisations in Redbridge including sections within LBR and Vision which are working to draw attention to the threat of climate change, through their different kinds of environmental work. So far the following groups have agreed to participate.

- LBR Air Quality Control Team,
- LBR Our Streets team,
- Nature Conservancy,
- Cleaner Greener Wanstead
- Wanstead Climate Action
- Transition Town Ilford

The event will be held in the Community Hall at Vine Church in Holstock Road, IG1 1LG, Central Ilford. For running the main session we will use the "world cafe" method, with 4 to 6 organisations hosting a table each, and addressing a different aspect of the climate crisis.

REDBRIDGE FAITH FORUM LOOKING BACK

Wednesday, 24th April – Women’s Interfaith Workshop

St Andrews Church, The Drive, Ilford IG1 3PE

A most enjoyable afternoon was had by a mixed faith group of women at this Redbridge Faith Forum Event at St Andrews Church, The Drive, Ilford learning about and discussing the birth ceremonies, custom and tradition associated with Christian and Sikh Faiths. Everyone was encouraged to ask questions and very interesting conversations took place. Please click here for a full report.

Tuesday, 30th April – RFF Network Meeting- Community Hubs

Ilford Islamic Centre, Albert Rd, IG1 1HW

This meeting was an opportunity for residents to feedback their views to the council on the plans to establish six community hubs across the borough as a means of bringing together health, social, cultural and other local resources. The proposed locations are in Seven Kings, Gants Hill, Wanstead, Ashton’s Playing Field, Hainault and Ilford Town Centre.

The audience were asked to focus on three questions

1. “What are your hopes and fears for these proposed community hubs?”
2. “What would success look like for these proposed community hubs?”
3. “Can you help us reach local residents?”

The audience was divided into five groups to consider these questions – you can view the report of responses by clicking here.

More information about the project is available at www.redbridge.gov.uk/hubs and consultation on the Gants Hill proposed hub will take place later this year.

JUNE FAITH FESTIVALS

A full list of all the festivals can be found on our website under resources just follow this link here . See below for an explanation of the faith festival of Ramadan which will culminate in the celebration of Eid-ul-Fitr which is likely to be on 5th June depending on the lunar cycle.

Ramadan is the ninth month of the Islamic calendar and Muslims believe that it is during this month that God revealed the first verses of the Quran to the Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him).

Muslims see this month as a time for reflection and self-purification, and abstain from certain pleasures in life, including food and drink, from sunrise to sunset. While fasting during Ramadan is one of the five pillars in Islam and is compulsory, there are exceptions, such as young children, those who are unwell and pregnant women.

In addition to abstinence from food and drink, there are other actions that Muslims carry out during this month. These actions include:

- Charity – Many Muslims discharge their obligatory charity (Zakat) during this month;

- Performance of supererogatory nightly prayers;
- An increase in the recitation of the Quran;
- Engaging in optional good deeds and abstaining from actions considered sins.

The length of time that Muslims fast depends on the location and season, with fasting hours varying from eight to nineteen hours. This year, Muslims in the UK will be fasting for nineteen hours.

During Ramadan, Muslims wake up to partake in Suhoor - a meal just before dawn. Once dawn breaks, Muslims are considered to be in the state of fasting until sunset. At sunset, Muslims will break their fast, typically with dates and water. This is called Iftar (the breaking of the fast) and is usually followed by a meal. Breaking the fast at sunset is an occasion for family, friends and the community to come together.

The end of Ramadan is based on the sighting of the new moon and is marked by Eid-ul-Fitr, the Festival of the Breaking of the Fast. It's one of the two major holidays in the Islamic year and is celebrated with an extra prayer, as well as visiting family and friends, feasting and gift giving.

CONSULTATIONS

Consultation on changes to local CCG Commissioning Policy

Across North East London, the seven Clinical Commissioning Groups have been working together to look at how to make sure that people, wherever they live, are able to have the same treatments and procedures.

In order to do this in a consistent way, the CCGs want to make changes to what is known as their commissioning policy. This lists specific treatments, procedures and interventions the NHS funds, and who is eligible to have them. They want to merge the different commissioning policies (currently there are different ones for Barking and Dagenham, Havering and Redbridge; City and Hackney; Newham; Tower Hamlets and Waltham Forest) to create one.

By doing this, it would mean that:

- All patients living in North East London would have access to the same types of care
- The care patients would receive would be in line with the latest clinical guidance
- Hospitals and GPs would be clear about what policy to refer to, reducing confusion
- Patients would not have treatments that don't work or aren't the best option for them.
- NHS funds would be spent paying for procedures that people need, and that would give them a better quality of life.

After much discussion, reviewing of clinical evidence and guidance, and looking at work done by NHS England, their GPs have come up with what they think needs to be changed in order to create a new commissioning policy for North East London.

They will now begin their six weeks of targeted engagement (until 3 July 2019) so they can discuss their proposals with local people and get their feedback.

Further information including detailed information about the proposals is on the website

Consultation on proposal to relocate Moorfields Eye Hospital

- Consultation runs until Monday 16 September
- Public invited to give their views at <http://oriel-london.org.uk>

People in Barking and Dagenham, Havering and Redbridge are being asked for their views on a proposal to move Moorfields Eye Hospital from its century-old site at City Road to a new facility at St Pancras Hospital.

The consultation invites members of the public to have their say on the proposed move which will bring together excellent eye care, ground-breaking research and world-leading education in ophthalmology on one site, for the benefit of patients.

In 2017/18 nearly 34,000 people were referred from Barking and Dagenham, Havering and Redbridge to Moorfields and in that year alone, Moorfields had more than 740,000 visits in total from patients – making it the largest eye care provider in the UK. Every day 250 people in the UK start to lose their sight and almost 10 per cent of all NHS hospital appointments are for eyes.

The trust treats a wide range of eye problems, from common complaints to rare conditions that require specialist treatment not available elsewhere.

A new centre will bring doctors and scientists closer together to optimise developments in care and research. This cannot be done effectively at Moorfields' City Road site which was built more than 100 years ago when hospital care was provided very differently.

Major advances in technology provide the opportunity for better diagnostics, treatments and information sharing, which could mean fewer waits and fewer hospital visits for patients. But the right facilities are needed to realise their full potential.

After the consultation closes on Monday 16 September, NHS commissioners will decide whether the proposed move should proceed to the next stage of planning.

If approved, Moorfields will begin the process of selling the current City Road site, buying land at St Pancras and appointing a construction firm. The new facility could open to patients in 2025/26.

David Probert, chief executive for Moorfields Eye Hospital, said:

“This is a crucial milestone in our ambitious proposal to design, build and operate a new, integrated eye care, research and education facility.

“Our ability to provide modern, efficient and effective treatment is achieved despite the limitations of our century-old City Road site, which sometimes means that patients do not always get the best care, delivered in modern ways.

“That is why we are looking at moving the hospital to a new purpose-built centre where we would be able to transform lives, turn research into new treatments faster and share our knowledge and understanding with the clinicians of tomorrow.

“We’ve already had feedback from over 1600 people across the country through earlier public engagements and want to make sure that any future decision is made based on the involvement of those who use and provide our services. I strongly encourage patients, staff and the wider public to use this consultation to send us their views.”
